SET BRITAIN FREE FROM THE E.E.C.!

BRITAIN IS NO LONGER a self governing sovereign nation. Twelve years membership of the European Community has seen to that. From that fateful day when Edward Heath and the Tory Party signed away our independence, the Common Market has done nothing for Britain or the British people.

It was only a matter of months before we saw the writing on the wall when our so-called European partners ratted on the "Luxemburg Compromise" a safeguard introduced into the Treaty of Rome against any damaging new policies being introduced which were not in Britain's best interests.

Contrary to popular belief there is no reason why Britain should not leave the Market. The fears of people that it may be illegal for Britain to come out without a series of complicated "releases" from each of the other member states are unfounded. As former State, Foreign and Commonwealth Office Minister, Douglas Hurd, stated "Nobody is alleging that we cannot leave the European Community. Of course we can". This was proved only this year when Greenland, who joined the community in 1973, decided to leave, with her Government negotiating a favourable withdrawal.

12 YEARS ON

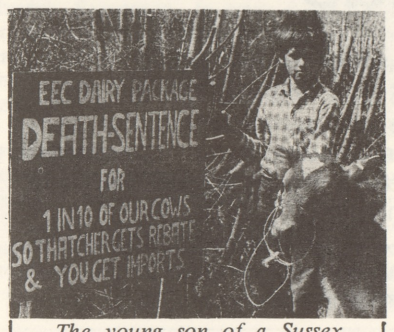
Any British Government that had the interests of its people at heart would follow Greenland's example. While the Conservatives and Alliance are committed to Europe and with the Labour Party divided on the issue, the National Front is Britain's only political party that is pledged to 'Get Britain Out'. The National Front opposed Britain's entry at the Referendum and 12 years on is still fighting against our membership. Here are the reasons why!

Cost of Membership

IN the 10 years before we joined the community, Britain had an average annual balance of payments with the EEC of £298 million in the black. In 10 years since we joined, we've been on average £1,819 million in the red each year. In 1982 the deficit was £4,970 million. Our deficit with the EEC in manufactured goods in 1982 was £13 million a day.

Britain's net contribution in 1983 was £1.2 billion. We were promised a rebate of £850,000,000 but this has not been forthcoming, in fact, the Community is broke and is demanding an extra £1.6 billion from its members, to get by, this year.

From January 1973 to December 1981 Britain contributed £6,720 million in VAT payments, food levies and tariffs. In direct contributions we are losing over £1 million a day. In simple terms, for every £1 we get from EEC grants we pay £1.70 for the privilege.



The young son of a Sussex farmer spells out what the Common Market has done for his family.

Farms and Fishing

ACCORDING to the National Dairy Producers' Association, the EEC demand to cut milk production will put 10,000 dairy farmers out of business, lead to the slaughter of 150,000 cattle, put 40,000 milkmen on the dole and put 25p/lb on the price of beef.

The European Court of Justice is challenging our 12 mile fishing limit and insisting that Britain lowers her quotas of herring and cod. Interference from Brussels in our fishing industry is shrinking our fishing fleets and destroying the way of life in many of Britain's fishing ports.

Rise in Food Prices

AVERAGE EEC food costs 20% more than the rest of the world, while levies on food imports push some essentials up even more. For example the levy on butter is 53p/lb. On cheese it's 57p/lb, beef 83p/lb and sugar 10p/lb.

Last year the European Court demanded that British beer be put up 7p a pint. The TGWU called this decision "a clear example of blundering bureaucracy".

Loss of Jobs

WE import £8,000 Million more in manufactured goods from the EEC than we export back, costing Britain 1 Million jobs. Unfair imports such as subsidised poultry with illegal weight boosting injections, have put over 4,000 Britons on the dole.

EEC cuts in coal and steel have put 200,000 jobs at risk, many which will come from Britain.

Loss of National Freedom

EURO passports and free movement of European labour, together with moves for a common Euro-currency and the growth of the power of the European Court to tax and legislate are steadily eroding our national freedom. The European Parliament is continually interfering in how we run our affairs. To the delight of the IRA they have voted to investigate Britain's handling of Northern Ireland and last year instructed the British Government to ensure that the vote to restore the death penalty was defeated.

Our membership of the Common Market has been a disaster. Only this year we are having to put up with British lorries being hi-jacked in France and British meat being burnt by French Farmers. France and Ireland are calling for a ban on the popular New Zealand butter coming to Britain and on top of that we have the Community putting up our price of membership.

Britain does not benefit from the Common Market, the facts speak for themselves, and that is why the National Front is continuing the fight to GET BRITAIN OUT.

IRA rally ends early

BIRMINGHAM'S IRISH Freedom Movement (a front organisation for Sinn Fein) recently received a nasty shock when they announced a rally in the central Chamberlain Square on Saturday 5th May. For although they put up lots of posters advertising the rally they forgot to book the Square with Birmingham Council.

ROW

Discovering their mistake Birmingham National Front quickly booked the square themselves for an anti-IRA rally. As a result a series of furious rows broke out between the local Sinn Fein supporters, Birmingham police and the City Council.

Eventually the Council announced that the IRA supporters could have the square in the morning while the National Front could hold its rally in the afternoon.

However on Thursday 3rd May local elections took place and by Friday morning there was a new Council with the Labour Party in charge. Their first action on taking over the Council was to consider ways of stopping the National Front rally but by then it was too late, and the Labour leader was reduced to announcing to the Press that the National Front would be provided with no "extra facilities". As such "extra facilities" (whatever they might be) had not been asked for, it was hardly a shattering blow.

On the day a pathetic 30 IRA supporters turned up and were jeered and eventually drowned out by some 60–70 National Front supporters. Two hours before their rally was due to end they scuttled away.

'....30 IRA supporters were jeered by 60 NF'

ACHIEVED

The National Front promptly announced to the Press that as it had already achieved its object of opposing Sinn Fein it would cancel its rally. This lively NF activity achieved substantial coverage both in local newspapers and on television.

When Courage brings Justice

IN THE AFTERMATH of the Police actions at Wakefield, the arrest of papersellers at Chelsea, the trumped-up charge against Andrew Brons and the raids on members' homes in London, it would not be at all surprising if National Front members had lost faith altogether in today's society in Britain. Even the Council for Civil Liberties, allegedly the last resort for the individual under such attack, is not prepared to help us in our battle against such tyranny.

In these difficult days for the National Front it must give all our members heart to know that at least in one court in the land, justice is being seen to be done.

My colleague, Patrick Harrington, is a philosophy student at the North London Polytechnic. Since the beginning of March he has been unable to continue his studies because of a 200 strong picket of Labour Party supporters and coloured immigrants from his college which prevents him from attending his lectures.

CIVIL COURTS

Patrick complained to the Court of Governors at the Polytechnic but they could not resolve the situation so he took his case to the Civil Courts. Despite various rulings to the contrary, the picketing continued forcing Patrick to return to the courts for help.

On May 11th at the Royal Court of Justice in the Strand, Judge Mars-Jones condemned the student picket for "behaving like a fascist mob" and likened their treatment of Patrick Harrington to "Political persecution the like of which was happening in Germany in the 1930's". Judge Mars-Jones also had advice for the Governors of the Polytechnic, who sat shame-faced in court, in their handling of the students picketing. "These people are black-mailers. Once you give in to them they will never leave you alone" The judge said that the Polytechnic Authorities must not be afraid to stand up to the students and that "The highest courts in the land are available to you".

BE PREPARED

Yes, it gives us hope to know that such courts are prepared to stand up for the rights of National Front members, and as such, National Front members should be prepared to make full use of the facilities should the need arise.

Of course, it's the courage of Patrick Harrington that has allowed British Justice to be seen to be done. Let's face it, 99% of students who arrived for lectures and were confronted by a screaming spitting mob, would turn-tail and head, full speed, for the nearest job centre. But in the National Front they come a little stronger; and Patrick says, that although there have been many depressing times during the dispute, there have been some moments of reward. The young couple for instance, not members or supporters of the NF, who saw Patrick's plight on television and waited outside the Polytechnic to wish him luck as he arrived to face his tormentors; and the security guard at the courts who shook Patrick's hand after the case and wished him well.

Like that security guard, I'm sure all NF News readers wish Patrick Harrington well. His courage during the last couple of months has been an example to us all.

Albert Mariner Memorial March

ON THE EVENING of Thursday 3rd May over 200 National Front members marched through the centre of London to commemorate the 1st anniversary of the murder of Albert Mariner. Albert Mariner was peacefully walking to a National Front G.L.C. by-election meeting in Tottenham when he was struck on the head by a missile hurled by a mainly Black mob, he died the next day.

LONDON DRUM CORPS

After assembling in Portman Square near to Marble Arch the column moved off headed by the London Drum Corps and the NF flag party. The march started at 8.45 p.m. which meant that the column passed through streets brightly lit by neon lights.

This gave the march a unique atmosphere which was added to by the sight of evening diners emerging from restaurants in droves to see what was happening. Many of them were visibly impressed by one of the best ordered marches the National Front has ever held.

It had been intended to carry flaming wax torches on the march but these were banned on the instructions of the Commissioner of the Metropolitan Police on the grounds that they constituted "offensive weapons".

Ken Matthews of the London Drum Corps preparing for the Albert Memorial Memorial March.

SUITABLE HEADSTONE

The march proceeded eastwards ending up at Temple Place where a short rally was held. This was addressed by Vic Clarke, a close personal friend of Albert Mariner and the Chairman of Tower Hamlets Branch, Nick Griffin the NF Publicity Officer and Ian Anderson, NF Deputy Chairman. The collection raised £114 all of which is being put towards the purchase of a suitable headstone for Albert Mariner's grave.

Wreath for Albert's Grave

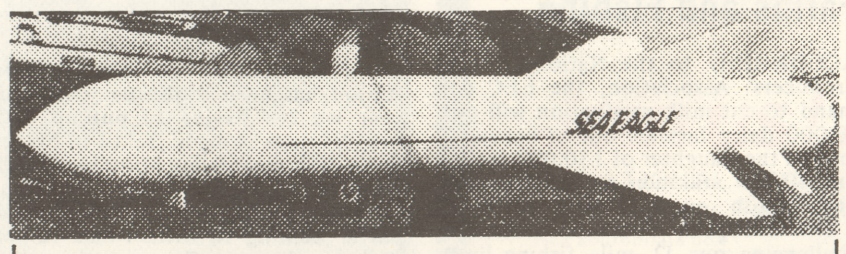
ON SUNDAY 6th May a small gathering of about 25 of Albert's National Front colleagues took place at the East London Cemetry. Wreaths were laid on Albert's grave by Sue Clapp, Treasurer of Tower Hamlets NF, on behalf of East London NF, and by Ian Anderson, who after laying a wreath on behalf of the party called for a two minute silence during which time people were asked to recall their memories of Albert Mariner.

Britain's Defence in Foreign Hands

THE ROYAL NAVY, once the greatest in the world, is now barely a task force for the United States. Increasingly the Royal Navy cannot operate without the co-operation of the U.S. Government and the latest act of subservience is the announcement by the Ministry of Defence that Britain's newest frigates are to be equipped with American 'Harpoon' missiles.

British Aerospace have developed and produced an equivalent, the Sea Eagle, which has already been ordered by the R.A.F., but the Na y has decided on the American alternative.

The supreme irony is that the Navy specifically wants the American missile, not because it's better, they readily admit that the Sea Eagle is at least as good, but because they have already bought an earlier version of the 'Harpoon' for Britain's submarines. This makes it easier to train sailors in its use than buying British.



The Sea Eagle, not wanted by the Royal Navy who prefer an American missile. Such a decision means the loss of 10,000 jobs and £5 million in orders.

10,000 JOBS LOST

As a result of this manic drive to turn the Royal Navy into just one fleet of the U.S. Navy up to 10,000 jobs are going to be lost. The order itself is worth about £150 million, not to mention up to £500 million worth of possible exports which are likely to be lost if Britain's own Navy fails to buy British.

The differences in foreign policies between Britain and America have become increasingly apparent recently over such issues as the Falkland Islands and the invasion of Grenada. Yet now Britain has to think twice before even voicing criticism of America because of our armed forces' growing reliance on American supplies.

If Britain is to become truly independent then not only must our armed forces be solely under British control but the weapons that they use must be designed and built in Britain by British workers.

NATIONAL FRONT TO FIGHT PORTSMOUTH SOUTH

THE PORTSMOUTH Branch of the National Front will be fighting the forthcoming parliamentary by-election for Portsmouth South.

Their candidate will be 53 year-old George Knight, a local taxi driver who represented the NF in the same constituency at the General Election last June.

Mr. Knight who lives in the constituency, is very well known locally, having driven taxis in the town for the last 25 years. An ex-Royal Marine, George saw action with 42 Commando, the Green Berets, during the Malayan Emergency and later served on HMS Bulwark during the Suez Crisis.

LIVELY CAMPAIGN

Mr. Knight's agent is John Vivian who pledges to fight a lively and thorough campaign, while there is a general feeling amongst branch activists that the party can improve on the 279 votes (0.56%) it polled at the General Election.

Portsmouth Branch needs your help in this campaign. Their funds have only just recovered from the last General Election and money must be raised to fight an effective campaign. Please send a donation to:— The Secretary, 50, Pawsons Road, Croydon, Surrey CRO 2QF. Making your cheques/P.O.'s payable to National Front Portsmouth South Election Fund.

NF News Diary

DAILY MIRROR and former 'Journalist of the Year' Paul Foot, was upset by NF News No.55 which he "found extremely disturbing".

It was not the article on Black crime that upset him, or the catalogue of special treatment for immigrants in 'The Privileged Class' report. No Paul Foot was disturbed that the National Front was campaigning "to nationalise the banks, to get Britain out of the Common Market and calling for support for the miners' dispute". He claims such policies "will confuse people".

Of course, what Paul Foot is really afraid of is that the British people will wake up to the fact that the Labour Party no longer represents their views and that it is the National Front alone that champions the cause of the British people.

As Paul Foot so rightly acknowledges, the National Front ". . has policies which appeal to large numbers of working people".

A REPRESENTATIVE of an animal welfare group of Liverpool writes that he is amazed by David Alton's support for Ritual Slaughter. "This is a strange turn around for Mr. Alton for only at the last election he replied to a number of our members stating that he was taking a firm stance on animal welfare".

The writer says that Mr. Alton in no way naive as suggested in NF News No.56. "In my view Mr. Alton is once again taking up an issue which might win him some support and possible votes".

*

WHILE ON the subject of Ritual Slaughter, claims by the Imans of the Islamic Religion that the Koran decrees the method of slaughter for Muslims are apparently unfounded. In fact one of Prophet Mohammed's quotations states "God has prescribed kindness to everything. If you kill, then kill in the best way and if you slaughter, slaughter in the best way".

*

I CAN'T help feeling sorry for Ian Kane, the Chief Constable for Cambridgeshire. Badgered by the 'big-wigs' of the Race Relations Industry for more coloured immigrants in his force, he launched a campaign for recruits from Cambridge's 22,000 strong coloured community. The campaign included visits to youth clubs, schools and community centres together with open evenings at a number of police stations.

But it was all to no avail. Let Ian explain, "Regrettably we had only 15 formal applications and out of these it was possible to make only one appointment. Failure to pass the entrance examination was the main reason for non-acceptance".

Such news must bring smiles to the faces of our members everywhere.

*

AS TAXPAYERS, whose money is used to finance Common Market projects, I'm certain NF News readers will be interested to know to what use their money is being put.

A recent auditors' report reveals the construction of a 48 mile road running from nowhere to nowhere in the Congolese bush, at a cost of £20 million. The Italian contractor used wrong material, and three-quarters of the 12½ mile stretch so far completed is already in need of repair.

"Laws protecting people from comments about their race do not work. You can pass them until you are blue in the face but you will never stop people seeing something different and saying something about it".

Judge Desmond Vowden at Bristol Crown Court on May 4th 1984. The judge was sentencing Christopher Sanigar to three years in prison for grievous bodily harm.

Sanigar, who is half Sri Lankan, had punched Miss Gail Revill, 25, and broke her jaw in a night club when she asked if he was foreign because of his dark skin.

ULSTER: NO SELL-OUT!

-NF Says Reject New Irish Forum!

"CONFLICT, DIVISION, intense human suffering and misery in Northern Ireland could be transformed into lasting peace and stability if the proposals of the New Ireland Forum were instituted."

– That was the general attitude of the Tory mass media towards the New Irish Forum, a document published recently by the Southern Irish Government of Dr. Garrett Fitzgerald.

Rev. Ian Paisley, sticking up the Union Jack in Dublin. Ulster is Forever British. No Sell-Out!

For instance, it acknowledges the "Britishness" of the Loyalist majority in Ulster. It also acknowledges the cultural, political, religious, linguistic and social differences between Ulster and Ireland. (So far so good. No British Nationalist or Ulster Loyalist would deny these truths.)

The Report after analysing the differences between the Ulster and Irish peoples in purely nationalist terms, then prescribes the internationalist and reactionary imperialist solution of a United Ireland.

However Ulster's "troubles" cannot be solved by the creation of a United Ireland as the Republican's claim, nor can Ulster's "troubles" be solved by the phoney patriotism of some reactionary Unionists. The only way to peace and prosperity is through the third position offered by the National Front. The creation of a modern, revolutionary, Ulster state within the British family of nations.

Peace and prosperity can only be achieved by a government that is committed to maintaining Northern Ireland as a part of the United Kingdom for all time. In this respect, the great historic blood-ties between the mainland and our racial brothers and sisters in Ulster should not be forgotten. The supreme sacrifice paid by thousands of Loyal Ulstermen and women for Britain in times of conflict must be cherished and honoured. There must be no arrangements made between the UK and the Irish Republic which would compromise British national sovereignty over Ulster.

UNION OF BRITISH PEOPLE

The National Front, however, does look forward to the day when the British people can be reunited. In the long term, this must mean that Ireland, independent of Ulster, joins the union of British people. Needless to say, the rights and privileges of all Britons – whether they are English, Scottish, Welsh, Irish or Ulstermen – will be granted to everybody. At the same time, the distinct cultural and linguistic heritage of all people's would be preserved and encouraged.

There can be no peace in Northern Ireland until the Irish drop their imperialistic claims upon Ulster. Additionally, there can be no peace in Ulster until the Marxist IRA is smashed once and for all.

The National Front says: Reject the New Irish Forum. Ulster is Forever British – No Sell Out!

FOREIGNERS STALK JAGUAR

NORMAN TEBBIT, TRADE and Industry Secretary, is now determined to sell-off one of Britain's few prestige car makers. He is not particularly interested in who buys Jaguar as long as he can sell it.

Already he has received approaches from General Motors of America, and from Mercedes and BMW from Germany. After an initial outcry Mrs Thatcher announced that she would take steps to ensure that Jaguar remained British. Such steps, however, are only likely to amount to BL retaining a 20–25% stake in the company – hardly a controlling interest.

Last year the company, which is valued at around £200 million, is estimated to have made a profit of about £30 million – making it a very attractive proposition to potential buyers.

NO REASON

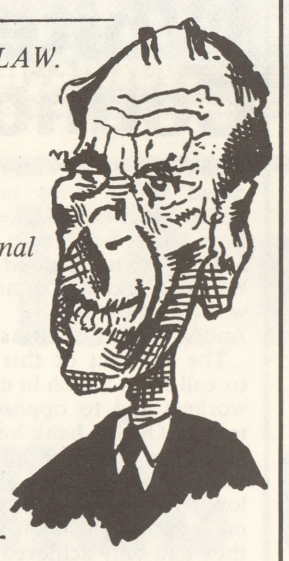
There is, of course, no reason why Jaguar Motors should be sold to anyone other than its employees. The Chairman of Jaguar, Mr. John Egan, was recently quoted as saying that Jaguar was quite capable of surviving as an independent company, "There is absolutely no question about it. . . We have got lots of new products and lots of ideas".

A buy-out by the workers would be quite feasible if the Government were prepared to loan them the money they would need to maintain and increase investment. That way the Government would reduce its stake in the firm and workers would acquire a controlling interest in their company.

However Norman Tebbit has set his face clearly against any such proposals. He is determined to allow Jaguar Motors, the company built up by its workers, to be sold to the highest bidder, and to do this he is quite prepared to allow Jaguar to become an American or German company.

TEBBIT'S LAW.

"If it's profitable, let the multi-national vultures have it".



RUPERT THE RACIST by Ted Budden

COMMENTING ON the decision of Brent Council to ban Tintin and Asterix books from public libraries, Simon Hoggart, in the Observer, detailed some of the bizarre activities of the sanctimonious loonies who are campaigning to rid childrens' libraries of 'racist' and 'sexist' literature.

However, Mr. Hoggart demonstrated that he himself is not entirely immune to the bullying of crackpot social engineers nor totally free of 'anti-racist' humbug for he reported that a colleague had told him of the 'racist' attitudes to be found in the stories of – wait for it – Rupert the Bear. One such story, Rupert and Koko, is, declared Mr. Hoggart, one he would not dream of handing to a child since "It's insulting to all Black people and could well reinforce unpleasant racial attitudes. . . ."

KLANSBEAR

This immediately set me rummaging through the old childrens' books that shaped my early life and made me the

But when a black cat he espies, The little coon with terror cries '

'fascist' beast I am today. Yes, there was Rupert and d'you know what?, that little old teddy bear who I'd always regarded as a snivelling do-gooder and a prize cissie was a regular Klu Klux Klansbear at heart and a raving bear supremacist. Why, if bears could have red necks he'd be a Redneck.

You know but for Rupert Bear I might be a different man today. Instead of resenting those black murderers, black rapists and black muggers, I might have grown up to appreciate the many subtle ways they've enriched our culture. I might have become like – well – Ken Livingstone for instance.

DE–RUPERTISE

Perhaps it's too late for me now. Maybe Rupert has so warped my mind that I can never learn to love the wonders and the glories of the multi-racial society.

But then perhaps not. It is, after all, GLC Anti-Racist Year and they seem to have plenty of money to throw around. Maybe they could spare a little cash for a course of treatment to de-Rupertise me and the millions of unfortunates like me.

FRONT BACKS SMALL FARMS

THE SMALLFARMERS' Association is appealing to the Tory government to radically alter its policies towards small and family farms before they disappear altogether.

The association says that "It is becoming daily more urgent that measures to aid small farmers be devised. If prices are simply reduced all round, those with only modest acreages to support them will find that their businesses are no longer viable".

DESTROYING

The National Front agrees with the Small Farmers' Association. We are opposed to the farming trend towards 'agri-business'. This is the system which is slowly polluting and destroying Britain's farmlands.

The National Front believes in re-introducing traditional farming techniques and the establishment of small family owned farms which practice a more organic form of mixed farming.

The ripping-up of British countryside in the name of 'profit' must be stopped. Small farms must be encouraged to form the agricultural heart of a new Britain – a Britain whose economy and way of life will respect and sustain the natural environment rather than disregarding and exploiting it.

SHOPPERS GET THE NF VIEW

SHOPPERS UP and down the United Kingdom got the run down on National Front policies thanks to Nick Griffin being given an interview, by the magazine Living, which can be bought in most supermarkets. Along with Neil Kinnock and David Steel, Nick gave a summary of his party's policies.

We re-print the interview below.

Nicholas Griffin
Publicity Officer, National Front

'The National Front is Britain's only real Nationalist Party. That means that our policies are based not on dogma or the interests of powerful pressure groups, but on the needs of the British people.

'Best known for its uncompromising opposition to coloured immigration, the NF also calls for, among other things:

☐ import controls on foreign goods that could be made in Britain – British jobs for British workers.

☐ the removal of all US military bases from our country. The development of a fully independent British nuclear deterrent.

☐ The restoration of the death penalty for IRA murderers and child-killers.'

His views on . . .

. . . the Conservative Party

'The Tories are an internationalist party serving the interests of Wall Street capitalism, not the British people.'

. . . the Labour Party

'Has been hijacked by internationalist Marxists who care more about Irish republicans, homosexuals and immigrants than about British workers.'

. . . the Liberal Party

'With three-and-a-half million on the dole, this is the party for people more worried about cracked pavements.'

. . . the SDP

'Just like the Tories and most of the Labour leadership, they are happy for Britain to be an unsinkable aircraft carrier for the USA.'

. . . the Scottish National Party

'Want Scotland to be independent from Britain, but subservient to the EEC, owned by multi-national companies and full of "Coloured Scots" – strange "Nationalists".'

. . . Plaid Cymru

'Although Plaid Cymru wants to preserve Welsh culture, their multi-rationalism will destroy the Welsh people.'

. . . the Ecology Party

'There is little they say about conservation that isn't already NF policy.'

. . . the Communist Party

'Want to replace capitalism with State capitalism – merely a change of masters. Strange "revolutionaries"!' ■

St. George's Day March in Stoke-on-Trent

NEARLY 300 National Front members marched right through the centre of Stoke-on-Trent on Saturday 21st April, the nearest Saturday to St. George's Day. Originally it had been intended to march through Salford but this was banned after application to the Home Secretary by the Chief Constable of Greater Manchester, James Anderton.

NOT BOTHERING

On Tuesday 17th April Mr. Anderton appeared on national television to announce that there were no public order reasons for banning the march. On Wednesday 18th April Mr. Anderton not bothering to inform the National Front, announced to the Press that the march had been banned.

However alternative plans had already been drawn up and the local Staffordshire police were given just 36 hours notice of the switch of location to Stoke.

As the National Front column was forming up in Stoke, radio stations covering most of Northern England were announcing this fact to bemused Reds who had assumed that we would simply cancel our activity.

NF Chairman Andrew Brons gives his view to the press.

HANDFUL OF REDS

The column headed by the London Drum Corps and the NF flag party then marched right through the busy shopping centre of Stoke where we received a friendly greeting from local White residents. As the column approached the rally site at the end of the march a handful of Reds arrived having driven from Manchester. Their sole activity was to attempt to snatch leaflets and stickers off local youngsters who were eagerly asking NF members how to join up.

The rally at the end of the march was addressed by Phil Andrews, Hounslow NF Organiser, Joe Pearce, YNF Chairman, Ian Anderson, NF Deputy Chairman and Andrew Brons, NF Chairman.

White Workers Council March

WEST LONDON anti-racist movement called for a mass march and rally against racism to take place on May Day bank holiday in Hounslow. On hearing this news an ad hoc Hounslow White Workers Council was formed with Hounslow NF Organiser, Phil Andrews as its Chairman.

The first act of this committee was to call for a march in defence of White workers and to oppose the anti-racist march. On the bank holiday Monday a rabble of only about 100 anti-racists shuffled through the streets of Hounslow. Their turn-out was made even more pathetic when it was realised that they had only achieved this number by shipping in supporters from the South-all Asian Youth Movement.

As they marched past the assembly point for the White Workers march they were greeted by the sight of waving union jacks and the jeers of those preparing to form up for their march.

Over a hundred mainly local White people then marched right through Hounslow in an orderly column which was in stark contrast to the shuffling Red march. At the end of the march the rally was addressed by Phil Andrews, NF Deputy Chairman Ian Anderson and Pat Harrington, who has recently received much television coverage in view of his courageous fight against the Red mob which is trying to prevent him pursuing his studies at North London Polytechnic.

STOP PRESS

PAT HARRINGTON. (see page 2, editorial).

National Front photographer Ian Newport was punched and kicked by left-wing students and had his camera stolen outside London's North East Polytechnic when Pat Harrington tried to gain access to his lectures.

Ian was shaken after the attack but did not need medical treatment. He told NF News "If the Reds think they can bully and frighten National Front members into defeat they are mistaken. Such attacks make me even more determined to make a total commitment to the Front".

BRITISH WORKERS UNITE!

IN THE 1950's and early 1960's the bosses of Big Business and certain public corporations imported hundreds of thousands of Blacks into Britain in order to keep down the wages of White workers. They are continuing to do the same today.

Many workers realise this and want to put a stop to immigration. Communists, however, say that anti-immigration feeling "divides working people in the interests of international Capitalism". This is not true. Opposition to immigration is in the interests of British working people.

COMMUNISTS SERVE CAPITALISM

It is the Communists who serve Capitalism by backing multi-racialism and stirring up Immigrant workers against White workers. Organising Immigrant workers — as the Communists are doing — divides the Trade Unions and creates a group of potential alien blacklegs.

White workers find themselves sandwiched between the greed of their employers in importing and employing cheap Immigrant labour, and the group pressure of the Immigrants themselves who are demanding jobs currently held by Whites.

WHITE ACTIVISM!

The National Front believes that Trade Unions are absolutely necessary to protect the interests of White workers. They are not, however, doing a very good job at the moment, and are, in fact, being threatened with Immigrant takeover. If Unions are to become effective and if they are to protect our interests, British workers must involve themselves in active participation within them.

White workers must organise to fight back. Do so by joining the National Front!
